1. [] vessel visited the port of Umba in mid-November 1954. About 100 meters of the quay was in usable condition. There was one bollard at the north end of the quay, and two at the south end; there were no other mooring facilities. A depth of 21 feet alongside the quay was determined by sounding two hours after high tide.
2. Near the range lights on the east side of the fjord arm, there were several small oil tanks.
